Article 1

The College of Science of National Chengchi University (hereinafter referred to as “the University” and “the College,” respectively) formulates these Regulations in order to enhance academic research achievements and to encourage full-time faculty members within the official staffing establishment to publish papers in domestic and international journals.

Article 2

Full-time faculty members within the official staffing of the College who publish papers in journals indexed in SSCI, SCI(E), A&HCI, or EI, and whose institutional affiliation is indicated as the College (department/institute), shall be awarded a monetary prize for each paper as encouragement.

However, these Regulations shall not apply to those who, in the same year, have been selected as Distinguished Chair Professors, Distinguished Professors, Distinguished Associate Professors, or who have received research awards from the National Science and Technology Council (hereinafter referred to as the NSTC), academic research awards from National Chengchi University, or other university-level awards or subsidies.

The total annual reward per person shall be capped at NT$30,000.

Article 3

Journal articles must have been formally published and appeared in the preceding year to be eligible for application.

Article 4

If multiple authors co-author an article applying for the award, the award amount shall be allocated proportionally according to the following weights; however, authors who do not meet the requirements outlined in Article 2 of these Regulations shall not receive any award:

70% for the first author or corresponding author,
50% for the second author,

30% for the third author,
and 10% for each of the remaining authors.

Article 5

Applicants shall, before the annually announced deadline, submit the application form, the first page of the published article, and proof of the journal's citation index to the College office to complete the application procedure.

Article 6

Applications shall be reviewed in a meeting convened by the Dean with the participation of administrative supervisors. The College office shall announce the list of award recipients. Relevant administrative procedures, including the preparation of the award disbursement roster, shall be completed before the end of each year, and the materials, together with the meeting minutes, shall be submitted to the University's Office of Research and Development.

Article 7

The funding required for these Regulations shall be supported by self-generated revenues of the University Endowment Fund. The annual award amount allocated to the College shall be calculated in accordance with Article 4 of the National Chengchi University Regulations Governing Incentives for Academic Research.

Article 8

These Regulations shall be implemented upon approval by the College Affairs Meeting and shall be submitted to the University's Research and Development Meeting for recordation. The same procedure shall apply to any amendments.
